5 Reasons HostGator Is Great for Beginners

Any person who is familiar with hosting websites has at one point or another had an account with HostGator.

A great option for beginners, this web hosting company offers a wide variety of services to fit any type of website. From shared hosting to dedicated hosting, this is an all-around great service.

HostGator was founded by Brent Oxley in 2002 in his college dorm room. Today, the company is one of the largest hosting providers in the world. By 2006, it had already surpassed 200,000 registered domains, and by 2013, over 9 million.

One of the main reasons this company has been able to grow so quickly is because their services are so beginner-friendly. So, without further ado, here are 5 things that make HostGator a great option for beginners.

1. Variety of Hosting Options

HostGator offers shared, reseller, VPS, and dedicated hosting plans. For beginners, their shared hosting plan is perfect. It gives them a simple and affordable option to work with while they learn the ropes.

Also, there's very little to configure in terms of setup. Nearly everything is taken care of for you.

2. Upgrading Is Easy

Eventually, you may want to upgrade from a shared hosting provider to a more advanced option. Making the switch to a higher-level hosting package is made simple with HostGator. They have an amazing customer care team that walks users through the process from top to bottom.

3. Responsive Customer Support

Going back to their customer support team, HostGator has a remarkable team of representatives who are ready to help their customers. This is ideal for beginners who are full of questions or concerns. Their staff is always ready to help and support you through live chat, email, or over the phone 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Plus, since HostGator is such a popular service, you'll find plenty of support from other users around the web.

4. Affordable Plans

Another reason HostGator is a great option for users starting out is its affordability. With promotional offers as low as $2.75 a month, this is a smart investment for beginners. Their low pricing options let you get your feet wet without breaking the bank.

They also offer a 45-day money back guarantee, which is longer than most web hosts who offer the standard 30-day money back guarantee.

5. Special Offers

There is always some type of promotion or special offer going on at HostGator. New customers almost always have access to discounted plans. For instance, right now they are running a 60% off special on their Hatchling, Baby, and Business Plans.

The Bottom Line

HostGator is one of the best-known web hosting companies for these reasons among so many others. Customers are guaranteed 99.9% server uptime which is amazing in comparison to other web hosts. From their extensive services to low costs, both beginners and advanced users can expect great things from HostGator.

There's no better time to take advantage of their current deals and discounted hosting plans. We're confident that you'll have a pleasant experience with this beginner-friendly service.
